Leopol, Aug. 28.

WE have advice that the 23 inſtant the King of Poland arrived with the whole Army at Buczacs; and that the ſame day he ſent a great detachement to Faſlowic, to ſummon the place, and in caſe it was not ſurrendred to attack it, That the Governor returned at firſt a very fierce anſwer; but the Poles making an Aſſault, the Enemy capitulated, and there marched out 500 Men. The King has ſent a ſtrong party towards Caminiec, which makes us believe his Majeſty will beſiege that place.

From Count Leſlies Camp at Turannovitz, Auguſt 27. 1684.

On Wedneſday laſt our General received Letters, by an Expreſs, from the Duke of Lorrain, and therein Orders, to march with the four German Regiments that are here to joyn the Imperial Army before Buda, and to leave the Croats to cover theſe Parts; which he has not yet complyed with, for that the Seraſquier Baſſa, having in vain attempted to force our Camp, has poſted his Army at Breſowitz within two hours march of us, and that it might be feared the Croats, after the departure of the Germans, would not be able to make head againſt the Turks, who would then be at liberty to make their Incurſions into Sclavonia and Stiria. We were two days agone reinforced with 1000 Croats more; and are expecting the reſt of the Troops of the Arrierban of Croatia, when theſe have joyned us, as likewiſe ſome Imperial Troops from Copranits, our General will go and attack the Turks in their Camp; but if he finds the Enemy move towards Buda, he will haſten to joyn the Duke of Lorrain.

Vienna, Sept. 10. This day was obſerved here the Anniverſary of the deliverance of this City by the victorious Arms of the Emperor, the King of Poland, and divers Princes of the Empire; There was a general Proceſſion of all the Clergy, Secular and Regular, at which the Emperor aſſiſted on foot with the Nobility, and the Soveraign Courts in their Robes; after which all the Cannon of the Town was thrice diſcharged: Our Letters from the Imperial Camp before Buda, give an account that part of the Bavarian Troops arrived there the 6th inſtant, and that his Electoral Highneſs was expected as yeſterday with the Rear-guard. That they have lately ſprung ſeveral Mines with good ſucceſs, and that they began to preſs the place ſo cloſe, that they made no doubt of reducing it in a very ſhort time, though the Beſieged have fortified themſelves with ſeveral ſtrong Retrenchments within the Town, and continue to make very frequent and deſperate Sallies. The ſame Letters, confirm what our former told us of Colonel Heuſler's having defeated a great party of Turks near Alba Regalis, the particulars are, That Colonel Heuſler being ſent out with one thouſand Imperial Cuiraſſiers and ſix hundred Hungarian Horſe, had notice that a great Convoy, conſiſting of four hundred Wagons laden with Proviſions and Ammunition, and drawn each by four Oxen, under the guard of four thouſand Turks, had paſſed the Bridge of Eſſecke, and was going to Alba Regalis, upon which, he laid his Men in Ambuſcade, who falling upon the Turks, at the firſt diſcharge killed about 50 of them, and put the reſt to flight; That the Enemy afterwards rallying, endeavoured to recover the Wagons which they had ſo eaſily abandoned, and attacked the Rear guard of the Chriſtians, but they were quickly repulſed; and Colonel Heuſler return'd to the Imperial Camp the firſt inſtant with the ſaid Booty, which was a very ſeaſonable ſupply for the Army. From Preſbourg they write, that the Turks of Newheuſel have quitted a ſmall Fort about a mile from that place, which was kept by 200 Janiſaries; and that the Chriſtians had poſſeſſed themſelves thereof, which makes us believe the Gariſon of Newheuſel is very much weakened, and that they are in great want of Men. General Schutz who Commands the Emperors Forces in upper Hungary is marched towards Eſperies in ſearch of Count Teckeley, who continues to ravage the Countrey on that ſide. The Count de Lamberg arrived here from the Army on Thurſday laſt, being ſent by the Duke of Lorrain to haſten the departure of the Troops and Ammunition that might be yet behind; and to give the Emperor an account, that he had received advice that the Seraſquier Baſſa finding he could not force Count Leſlie from his Camp, had repaſſed the Bridge of Eſſecke, and was marching to attempt the relief of Buda, according to the poſitive Orders he had received from the Grand Signior; and that his Highneſs was reſolved to go and meet him, leaving before the place a ſufficient number of his Troops to maintain the Siege. Yeſterday arrived here part of the Troops which the Circle of Suabia ſend to the Emperors aſſiſtance.

Francfort, Septemb. 17. Our advices from Hungary inform us, that part of the Bavarian Forces have joyned the Imperial Army, and that they were poſted on the ſide of the Danube, by which means the beſieged were hindred from ſupplying themſelves with water from the River, as till then they had done: That at a Muſter that was lately taken, the Imperial Army was found to conſiſt in 20000 Horſe, reckoning 6000 Hungarians, and 10000 Foot; and that with the Bavarian Troops, which are between 15 and 16000 Men, and the other ſuccors that were coming to them, they ſhould be ſtrong enough to fight the Seraſquier Baſſa, who it's ſaid has poſitive Orders to relieve Buda or to periſh in the attempt; and at the ſame time to maintain the Siege. By the way of Vienna we have advice, that the King of Poland had ſent part of his Army to attack the ſtrong Fortreſs of Faſlowic in Podolia; and that the Weywode or Prince of Valachia had taken Arms for the Poles, having ſlain a Baſſa and 1000 Turks who were ſent by the Grand Signior to ſeize the Weywodes Wife and Children. and bring them to Adrianople as a Pledge of his Fidelity; and had poſſeſſed himſelf of a very advantageous Poſt on the Danube, which he would put into the hands of the Poles, if they deſigned to paſs that River.
